

KNOWLEDGE FROM THE STARS: PART EIGHT

THE UNIVERSAL LIFE FIELD

By Wesley H. Bateman

Copyright © 2006 Ra Research Society

CHARIOTS OF THE GODS

Thundering sounds in ancient skies. Wise men with knowing nods turn toward the heavens to behold the chariots of the gods.

From the stars they came in those bygone days. Then they came again and again, to plant the seeds of knowledge and thought in the minds of men.

Their marks are found on Nasca's plain and high on an Andes' peak. Their voices are heard once again whenever the pyramids speak.

When men of Earth go forth in space and land on alien sods, strange eyes will behold their departure from the chariots of the gods.

That which quickens the spirit has no man as author.

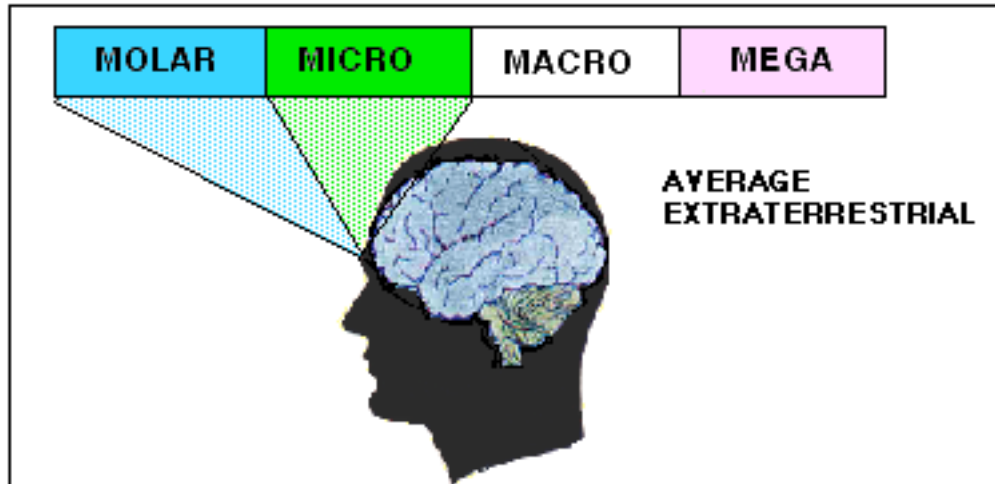

The Micro Level of Perception: Continued From Part Seven

As of the time of this writing the Frequency Barrier has receded sufficiently so that many Earth people will begin to use higher mental frequencies, which are of the Micro Level of Perception.

The possible ramifications of Earth persons attaining these new abilities will be presented and considered in a later part of this writing.

The average extraterrestrials have full use of their Micro Level mental frequencies. Their state of existence outside the affects of the Frequency Barrier is called: The Open Unrestricted Mental State.

The extraterrestrial's ability to use the micro areas of their brains is commonplace to them. They use these micro level abilities in their everyday lives. Some micro level abilities are used sparingly, in order to conserve the life force that would normally be spent performing such Micro Level actions.

Most Micro Level activities are costly in life force and are not used for fun and games.

The extraterrestrials live in a state unhindered by the Frequency Barrier and can freely use all of the Micro Level areas of their brains. These facts create the two most remarkable differences that presently stand between us.

The Psi Phenomena

We of Earth have witnessed the use of some Micro Level abilities and have grouped them under the heading: "Psi Phenomena."

Several types (not all) of the known Psi Phenomena are listed next, with a brief description of each. Only the subject of telepathy will be addressed in detail.

Telekinesis

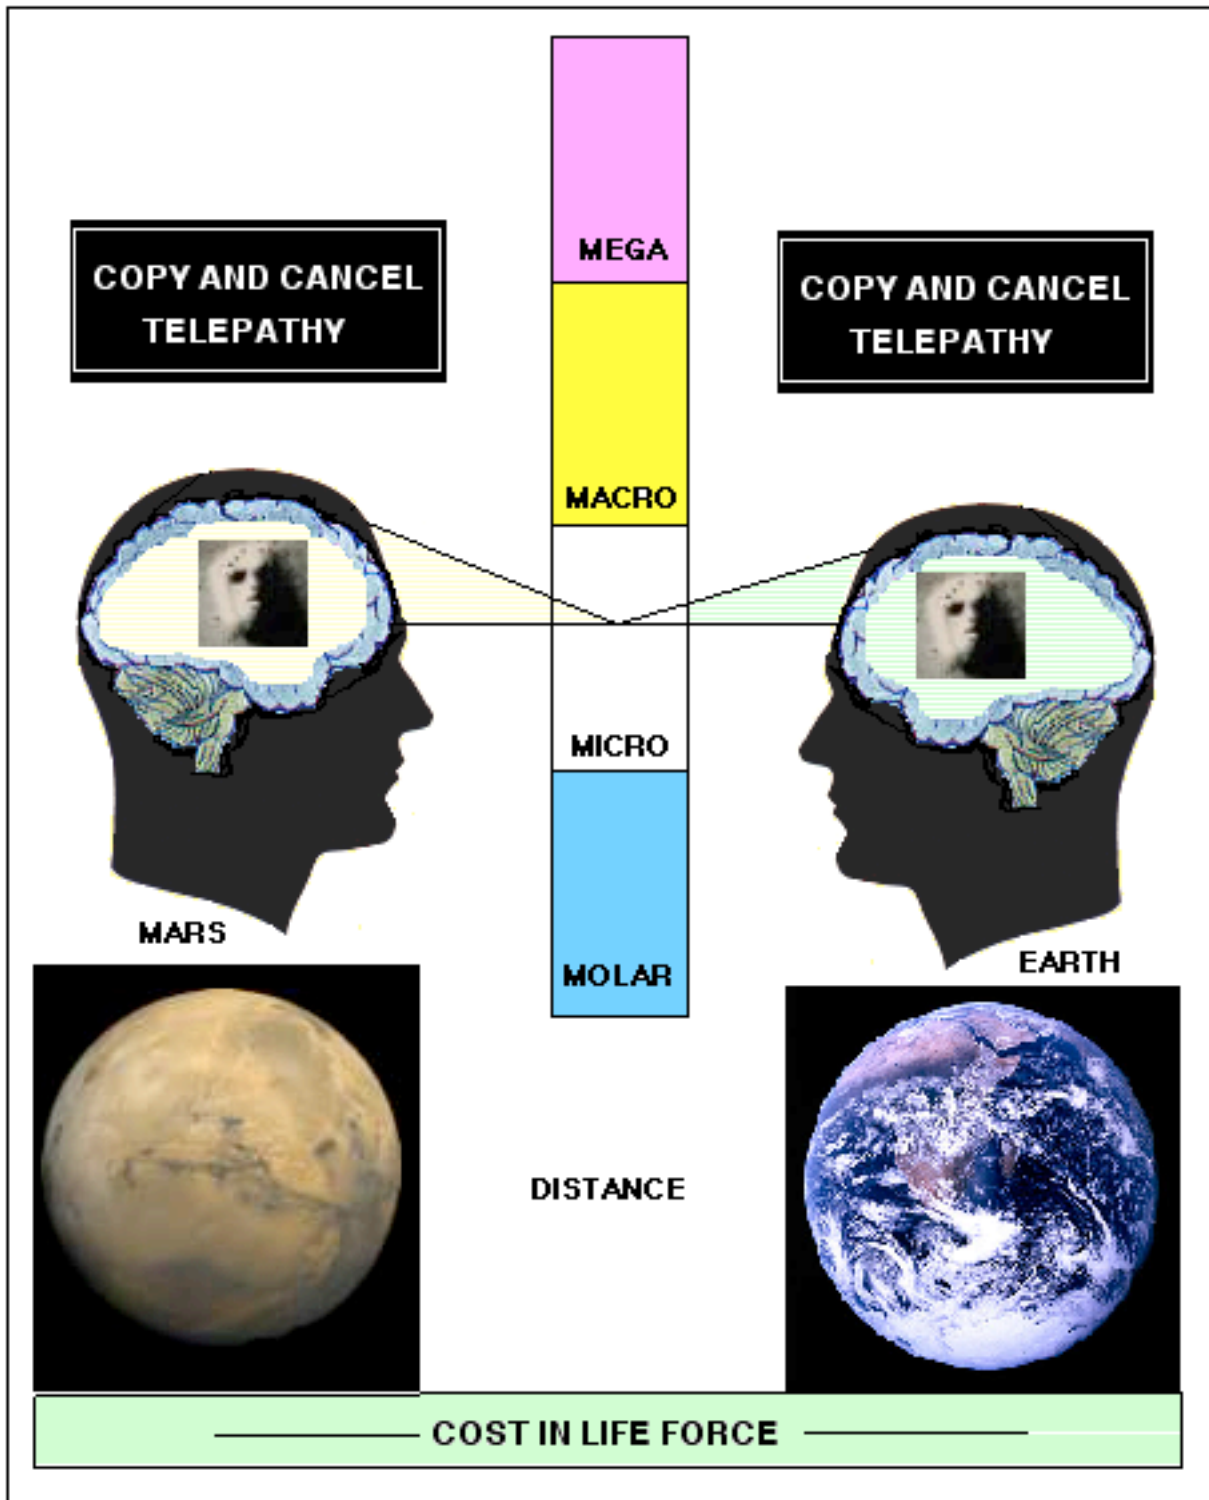

Telekinesis is sometimes called mind over matter. In this case solid objects are able to be mentally moved by focusing the life force from a particular Micro Level area of the brain.

Remote Viewing

Remote Viewing: This ability is also known as “espering.” This Micro Level ability is used to mentally search for an object, place, or activity that exists, or is happening at considerable distance from the “esper.” There are two ways to esper, as there are two ways to communicate telepathically. These two methods will become clear within the following description of telepathy.

Telepathy

Telepathy can occur between two or more individuals, if those individuals are capable of “mentally meeting” in an “open unrestricted area in the micro level of the ULF. Please view the following illustration and read the description that follows it.

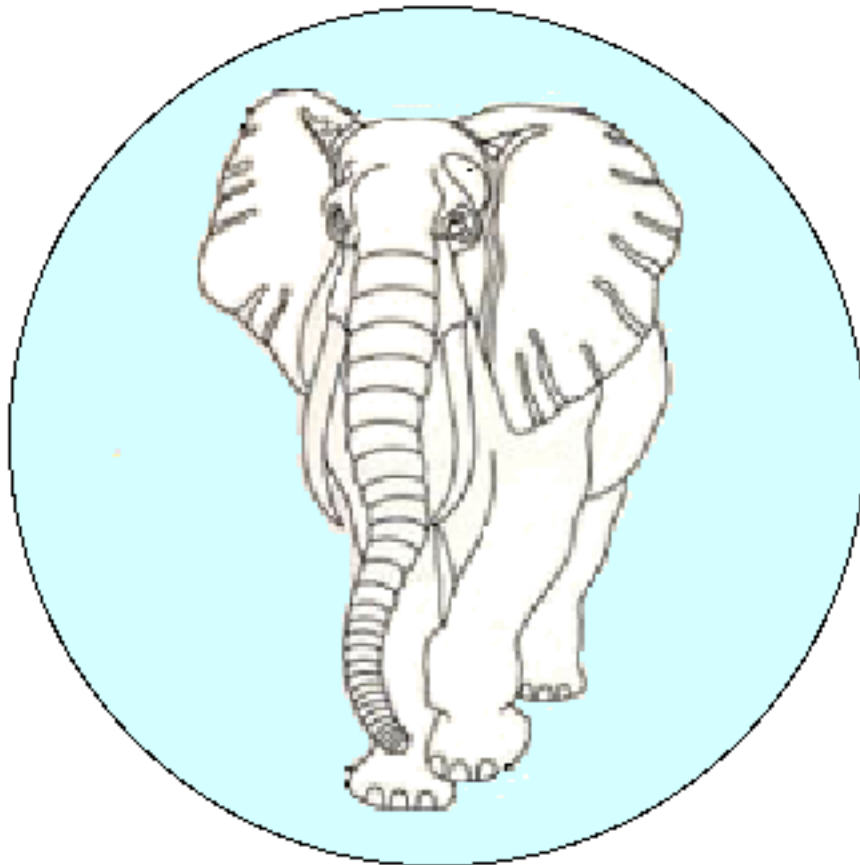

The illustration above depicts one of the two known types of telepathy. This method is called Copy and Cancel Telepathy (CCT).

The first thing a person needs to know about CCT is that anyone participating in the communication must have some knowledge about the subject being discussed. The more the knowledge the better the communication.

Lack of a mental inventory that pertains to a subject will result in frustration.

For example: Let me ask you to think of a “white elephant.”

Having the mental reference for the color white and a mental reference for an elephant, it is possible for you to form in your mind’s eye, the image of a white elephant.

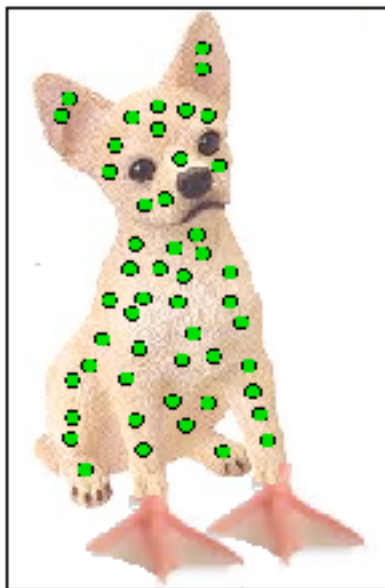

Now let me ask you to think of an “abarb.” You should get a blank because you have no mental reference for what an abarb is.

Mental Blank

These types of mental blanks are frustrating.

If I told you that an abarb was a little green spotted dog with feet like a duck, this will become your mental reference for this made up creature. False references of things that are not real, can play hell with even a very good telepath.

A common error made during CCT transmissions is called false cancelation.

An example of this is seen in the following illustration.

A person who never saw an electric light before could cancel the telepathic message about it as a lit candle, because a candle is the closest thing to an electric light that he could imagine.

THE LANGUAGE OF TELEPATHY

If both participants in a telepathic conversation speak a common language there is rarely a problem in understanding each other. The short stories presented in Part 6 “Voices From the Past” were telepathically transmitted in English.

In a case where the participants do not speak a common language there is also no problem, whatsoever. In this case the “thought activity” of those involved in the communication take the form of ‘Soltex Symbols.’ These universal symbols are instantly translated into the “first language” of the receiver.

This is how it works: The psychic being of every person inherently possesses within it the ability to think and speak a universal language which is called Soltex.

A study made by the United Nations revealed that a baby of any race or nationality will naturally call its mother “Ma Ma” and its father “Da Da.” There are no exceptions. An extraterrestrial baby will do the very same thing, no matter where in the universe it was born.

No matter what language we speak the associate brain waves we produce when thinking simultaneously with speaking are “ingramic symbols.” These symbols are universal.

Soltex as a spoken language matches the mental ingramic symbols of the things a person is thinking and talking about.

If you say the word “rifle” (which is a Soltex word) you will also mentally produce the exact Soltex ingram that represents a rifle and the resulting brain waves that are produced by the ingram that also represents a rifle. Every extraterrestrial who speaks Soltex will produce the very same brain activity when he or she speaks of, or thinks of a rifle. Two people that speak soltex certainly know if they do, or don’t understand each other. Lies are easily revealed as such. Soltex poetry vibrates the very mind and soul.

Soltex brain activity is created when a person who speaks English thinks of, or speaks of an item such as a “table.” This thought is automatically sent telepathically in the universal language of Soltex. A Spanish speaking receiver of the Soltex brainwave pattern for a table, will automatically mentally translate the message as “mesa” which is the spanish name for a table. Remember if the receiver never saw a table he or she might cancel the message as a flat rock, or even the ground.

In about 1100 AD a telepathic message was sent to someone on the Earth. The message pertained to the electro magnetic bottles and the plasma containment tube of a Flying Saucer. The receiver lacked the mental references for magnetic bottles, or plasma, canceled the message the following way: He described the moving bottles as moving sea shells (spiraled type) that traveled in a circle. These shells contained something very warm. He concluded his report with: “And the Great Serpent will put its tail into its head and the forces between good and evil will be balanced.” Pretty close to a “Dragon biting its own tail.” This information is recorded in the Jewish Cabala.

USING SOMEONE ELSE'S MENTAL REFERENCES: THE LORDS OF DEVISEMENT

Over the past 100 years, we of the the Earth have developed the means to record sounds and images by using various forms of technology. Beginning with Thomas Edison inventing a means to store sounds on cylinders and play the sounds again and again.

The next generation of this technology used spools of wire to record sounds.

Magnetic tape recording, Motion pictures, video tape, CD and DVD recordings as well as computer hard drives. Where does it go from here?

Scientists are putting mental efforts into producing realistic holograms, and recording human experiences; (everything seen, heard, smelled, tasted and felt emotionally and by touch. If they wait a little while they can save the effort. The extraterrestrials have had this technology for millions of years.

This is what they employ this kind of technology to do:

For example they can record an experience of a person viewing a fireworks display. Everything the person sees and hears, including the smell of the burnt explosive powder, the feel of the warm summer breeze and the sting of an insect bite.

Later, anyone whosoever can have the very same experience, just as if they were the person that had the original experience.

The recorded data is stored on an item which is about the size of an aspirin tablet and played back on a device as small as a match box. This unit transmits, in soltex, the stored experiences through the micro level of the ULf directly to the brains of any number of receivers.

Long before the computer age we of the RRS called the ET data storage unit a “rhom.” Why we used the “h” I don’t remember. But of course when spelled r-o-m anyone knowledgeable in computer lingo will understand that it means Read Only Memory.

It has been reported that when a person is subjected to a life threatening situation their life flashes before their mind's eye.

What is happening is: The brain rapidly searches for any experience the person might have had during their lifetime that was similar to the experience that they were facing at the moment. This is done to determine what course was taken at any previous time that solved the problem and allowed the person to survive.

A total lifetime can be recorded in this manner, but played back in seconds.

To the person reliving a person's lifetime in this way it can be made to seem that they are experiencing every second in real time, but in fact the whole venture took only seconds.

The Extraterrestrials teach their young in this way. They also use this technology as we would: for entertainment and for increasing their personal knowledge.

A division of any extraterrestrial exploration group is composed of rhom makers. Each are experts in a particular field. Geologists, medical specialists, sociologists, chemists and those with backgrounds in every other area of life that might be of interest to them. The studies and opinions of these experts are recorded on rhoms which are later stored in a data bank.

This information is retrieved mentally whenever it is required to make a decision about the world and the people from which the information was originally acquired.

These decisions are usually made by a group of telepathic experts which are referred to as "Lords of Devisement." Even lords of devisement are occasionally stumped as to what to do about certain situations. When this happens they resort to another course of action. They seek the proper thing to do by requesting a “Light of Divine Direction.” This subject will be described within the description of the Mega Level of Perception.

ABDUCTIONS

Have you ever wondered why people who claim to have been abducted by extraterrestrials are returned to their beds or automobiles after the extraterrestrials were through with them?

Why weren't these people just disposed of in the vast regions of space? Why return them so they could tell their stories to others? Why couldn't the extraterrestrials obtain the medical information they wanted thousands of years ago when the disappearance of a shepherd would be attributed to a hungry lion, instead of an extraterrestrial with a flying medical laboratory?

If all the abduction claims (estimated in the millions) were physically happening, the skies would be black with coming and going extraterrestrial craft.

What could they gain from abducting millions that they couldn't obtain from a few good specimens?

Why is this a modern day phenomenon? Why don't we have million of these reports from the time of our great grandparents, when newspapers were in existence?

Are all of these reports of being abducted by extraterrestrials untrue? Guess what, about 99% of these reports are absolutely true! What is really going on here?

In the past 25 years or so the Frequency Barrier has receded sufficiently to permit certain micro level areas of the brain to become available for use. These areas have also become available and receptive to “rhom information” sent through the micro level of the ULF by extraterrestrials. The subjects of these “programs” are usually abduction and medical examinations, or sexual encounters. Some of these examinations are painful and actually leave physical marks on the body.

The deepest form of hypnosis is called “somnambulism.” In this state of hypnosis a subject can be told that they have just burned their finger. The result of that statement is that a blister will appear on the finger just as if it had really been burned. This is how the marks occur on the abductee’s body.

One thing is for sure, someone was actually abducted and roughly examined by extraterrestrials ... the person who’s actual experiences were recorded on the rhom. We will return to this subject later on in this writing.

The Second Type of Telepathy

The universe surrounds us, but it is also in us. After a period of CCT experiences (which is costly in life force) a person might learn to use another type of telepathy. This type of communication is called “Zero - Zero” (ZZ) communication.

What occurs here, is that either or both telepaths involved in the communication locate the other within the universe that exists within their very inter selves. As far as life force is concerned this has absolutely no cost to either participant.

If one or both persons involved in ZZ communication are in a room and within sight of each other, an interesting thing is observed. While looking at the other’s facial features they begin to change and become replaced by the facial features of the observer who is in ZZ communication with the person who is being observed. They are seeing a soft, shimmering mirror image of themselves.

This method can also be utilized in remote viewing (espering).

An article pertaining to the finest details about the psi phenomena will be written and made available in the future.

At this point the energy that drives every living thing must be presented. When this information is added to the information previously presented, the motivations of the extraterrestrials will become crystal clear.

The Life Force

Years ago, I as well as others of my acquaintance began to refer to the life force as it relates to human and animal life as the “charge force.” From this point forward in this writing I will use the word “charge” and life force interchangeably for simple descriptive purposes.

Throughout our lifetimes we gain and spend our personal charge force through our emotions.

Humans spend their personal charge force through negative emotions, such as: hate, anger, worry, jealousy, and envy.

Likewise, we spend this energy through the channels of positive emotions, such as: Love, fond appreciation and other forms of affection.

People and things that stimulate a person to produce a particular emotion and spend their charge force are the receivers of the expended energy.

We can emotionally transfer our charge force to animals and they can likewise transfer their life-force to us.

Sex is an act of communication, as well as an act of creation. Sexual partners interchange their charge force with each other.

The charge force can be physically detected.

A photographic technique developed in the once existing Soviet Union was named "Kirlian Photography" after a husband and wife team who invented it. Kirlian Photography uses a measured amount of high electrical voltage instead of light to expose the film in order to produce a unique type of picture.

Kirlian pictures of inanimate objects, leaves of plants, and human body parts, such as finger tips, show the objects surrounded by a halo or aura. Sometimes these auras contain a number of different colors.

Kirlian Photo of a Leaf

Kirlian photography experiments were conducted in the mid 1960s to early 1970s at U.C.L.A. by Dr. Thelma Moss.

In my opinion the results of these experiments represent proof of the existence of the charge force.

The fingertips of a number of subjects were Kirlian photographed. Then the same subjects were asked to drink alcoholic beverages to the point that they were intoxicated and then had their fingertips photographed again. When the before and after Kirlian photos of each of the subjects were compared, in every case they showed remarkable differences in the shape and color of the auras.

The most dramatic evidence obtained by Dr. Moss is in the form of a Kirlian motion picture which shows the fingertips of a young man and woman kissing. At one point during the kiss a purple colored dot of light appears between the finger tips of the couple. The dot of purple light became progressively larger and brighter as the couple became more emotional. I am certain that the dot of purple light was manifested on the film by a charge force that was being emotionally transferred by one or both of the subjects.

I cannot leave the subject of Dr. Moss without describing the astonishing results of one of her Kirlian experiments. In this experiment Dr. Moss took a living leaf from a plant and then snipped a section off the leaf itself. She then Kirlian photographed the mutilated leaf. The resulting photograph showed the leaf and its missing section surrounded by a complete aura. This happened because the aura of the leaf also outlined the missing section, and this phenomenon is presently referred to as the “phantom leaf effect.”

As far as the ULF is concerned the leaf is still whole and will treat it as such, until its ULF relationship is totally terminated.

Phantom Leaf Effect
(simulated)

All forms of life, from the smallest microbe to the largest whale contain a molecule within their bodies that is called adenosine triphosphate, or simply ATP.

The firefly contains 2 chemicals within its abdomen which are called luciferin and luciferase. When a male firefly is looking for a mate he periodically releases ATP into his abdomen where it chemically reacts with the two chemicals just mentioned. The result of this chemical reaction is a flash of light.

The psychic being contains the life force and distributes it to ATP molecules located throughout the body. The ATP molecules step the charge force down to yet a lesser form of energy, which the body can tolerate. An electrical command from the brain (of a particular frequency) will cause the ATP molecule to release this energy, and this is how we move our muscles.

Admittedly this process is more complex and is presently beyond my ability to totally explain. Nevertheless, I will continue on, as anything pertaining to this subject will help in understanding the extraterrestrials.

Spontaneous Human Combustion

When a person's body does not produce enough ATP to step down the power of the life force the person will burst into flames. This phenomenon is called "spontaneous human combustion." There are many documented cases of spontaneous human combustion on record.

When this occurs only the body is consumed. Objects that closely surrounded the body that should have burned or melted are usually unscathed. Even a book of matches lying a foot or so away from the very hot fire did not ignite.

A case of spontaneous human combustion is shown above.

The spot where the body lay is burnt, but the rest of the room, including the toilet, was not even scorched. This shows a quick, hot flame that devoured the body in seconds. Only the bottom of one leg remained to identify this as a person.

Author Larry Arnold who wrote a book about this phenomenon titled: “Ablaze,” discussed this subject with fire investigators that had looked into several of these cases. The investigators in both instances were perplexed, but “unofficially” related that they thought the fire began in the sub atomic level in the cells and escalated from there through the atomic level, and that within seconds the body was totally cremated.

Poltergeist

Poltergeist is German for “noisy ghost.” Poltergeist activity usually consists of objects such as household furniture suddenly moving or flying about as if the items possessed their own propulsion power.

Researchers have found in every case that a young person (usually a girl) who had recently reached puberty was present during the mysterious events. In this case certain biochemicals in the girl’s body are concentrating and amplifying the life force and dispersing it in a somewhat hap - hazard fashion. If this power was being deliberately controlled and focused the phenomenon would be classified as the psi phenomenon we call telekinesis (moving a solid object by mental will power alone).

Buddhist monks wearing nothing but a robe (as in the picture below) are able to mentally focus their life force to produce heat. Motion pictures exist that shows several monks in 45 degrees below zero weather, and steam can be seen rising from their garments as they meditated.